FRANKFORT GIRL WINNER IN SPELLING SEMI-FINALSTuberculosis, A Big Problem In Home
& Commun. Health

Tuberculosis is a communicable disease. It is spread from the person with open tuberculosis to other persons with whom he has repeated close contact.

The recurrence of tuberculosis in a family is not because of heredity, but rather because of the close contact with the infected person. Tuberculosis can be controlled in a community by: a, finding the cases; b, management of the cases to prevent further spread of the disease; c, follow-up of discharged patients to aid their continued recovery and to observe their progress.

One way to discover unknown cases of tuberculosis is to x-ray every adult member of the community 19 years of age and over. As soon as the cases are discovered, they can receive the necessary treatment to hasten recovery and to control the spread of the disease in the family and community.

Under The Cross
Of Malta

Faith and be-gorra, it will be a great day for the Irish come St. Patrick's Day, and its for wearin' of the green, that I will. Once, an Irishman gave me a pint of his Irish blood, so I guess I have a right to flash the green.

All the Irish in Mokena and the community can come out and strut their green on Saturday night at the VFW hall, and a right smart band will be on hand to furnish the music for the jig. If you have no green to wear, come anyway and the vets will supply you with a bit.

Don't forget Saturday, March 17. Is it a date?

Nomination of officers will be in order for the regular meeting of the VFW on Thursday, March 8th. Come all and take part in your post. Let's get the benefit of the best leadership we can muster for the coming year.—Elmo L. Saarela, publicity.

Mokena Ass'n. Meets
With Group Heads

In compliance with a resolution passed at the open meeting of the Mokena Civic Association held February 21, a special meeting was held March 1 which was attended by a committee from each of the various organizations in Mokena.

The purpose of this meeting was to discuss and formulate plans for sending a questionnaire to the residents of Mokena community to ascertain their views on what should be done for the improvement of the community, and what project they think should be undertaken first.

This meeting was attended by Mr. A. T. Anderson, extension economist of the University of Illinois, who gave an interesting and enlightening talk on community problems and how to solve them, and told of actual experiences of some other small communities in improving their community.

Mr. Anderson stressed the point that there must be cooperation between all the groups of the community, both village and rural, to assure the success of any venture and that jealousies between the groups must be forgotten.

A resolution was passed at this meeting by the members of the various groups that the Civic association be asked to take the lead in getting the questionnaire out to the families of the community. This questionnaire is now being formulated so it can be sent out as soon as possible and each family should fill this out and return it.

When these questionnaires are all returned another meeting of the representatives of each group will be called to analyze them, after which another open meeting for all residents of the community will be held to hear the results of the questionnaire and start action on the preferred project.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE OF
LINCOLN ESTATES GIRL

Mrs. Agnes B. Kluth is announcing the recent marriage of her daughter, Agatha Louise Carlene, to Mr. Daniel Luttrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Nelson, of Homewood, at Columbus, Ga.

New Lenox community and surrounding territory was taken by shock last Saturday afternoon when several New Lenox people who were on their way to Joliet, nearly escaped death.

Mrs. Marjorie Hanuski, 38, of Vine street and Fred Madsen 13, his brother Donald 9 and Janet Korsgaard 13, were awaiting at the New Lenox Rock Island depot for the local train to go to Joliet.

The children had planned to go to a show, and Mrs. Hanuski, on a shopping trip. All were waiting on the north side of the tracks, the proper place to take a west bound train. But when the train arrived it was on the south track.

There is a strong wire fence separating the east and west bound tracks, and seeing the train not on its usual track, the four started to walk across the board-walk, and as they did so, the train, it is reported moved forward a few feet.

As Mrs. Hanuski was nearing the train, Fred Madsen, the oldest boy, said he happened to look over his shoulder and noticed the fast streamliner bearing down on them and without a warning signal. He said he remembered his grandmother telling him how fast trains suck one beneath them if standing close while it is passing. He called out to all, grabbed his younger brother and the girl, pulled them toward the metal fence post which is about four inches in diameter and four feet high, and told them to cling tight to it. He held the post tight with one arm and with the other grabbed his brother tight around his neck. Janet Korsgaard did as Fred had told her and clung tight to the post also.

Mrs. Hanuski, when she heard Fred shout, stood motionless as if paralyzed. The streamliner, the Denver Rocket, struck her. In the fracas she was hurled against the children, causing them to loose their grip on the post and fall to their knees, but then the train had passed. It did not stop.

Mrs. Hanuski had her left arm cut off at the shoulder; her right hand severed below the elbow and her left leg was cut off below the knee. Her right leg is also fractured.

A man standing on the Hickory creek bridge nearby, saw the accident, and with the screaming children attracted State Patrolmen Leo Gauvreau and John Simon, Jr., who both were on duty at the route 30 crossing a few feet south. They hurried to Mrs. Hanuski's aid, applied tourniquets to the arms, tied a rope around the leg, and covered her with a blanket to prevent shock. Assisting the patrolmen were Cecil Baldwin and William Heidrich of New Lenox, who also rode in the ambulance which took the injured woman to Silver Cross hospital.

There was a little delay in getting the ambulance for when the call was placed to Cowper Willard Blood, it was reported that the injured person was killed. Nevertheless, Coroner Blood lost no time in getting Mrs. Hanuski to the hospital. At the same time the coroner was called, Dr. Claude Otto at Frankfort was called who arrived in a few minutes.

At 7 o'clock that same evening Mrs. Hanuski was taken to surgery. At latest report it has not been found necessary to amputate the right leg, and the gravely injured woman is doing as well as can be expected.

Mr. Hanuski is employed by Dreis and Krump Manufacturing plant at Mokena. They have five children, Mrs. Dorothy Talmadge, 19, of Joliet, Harriet and Hazel, twins, 17, students at JTHS, Jackie.

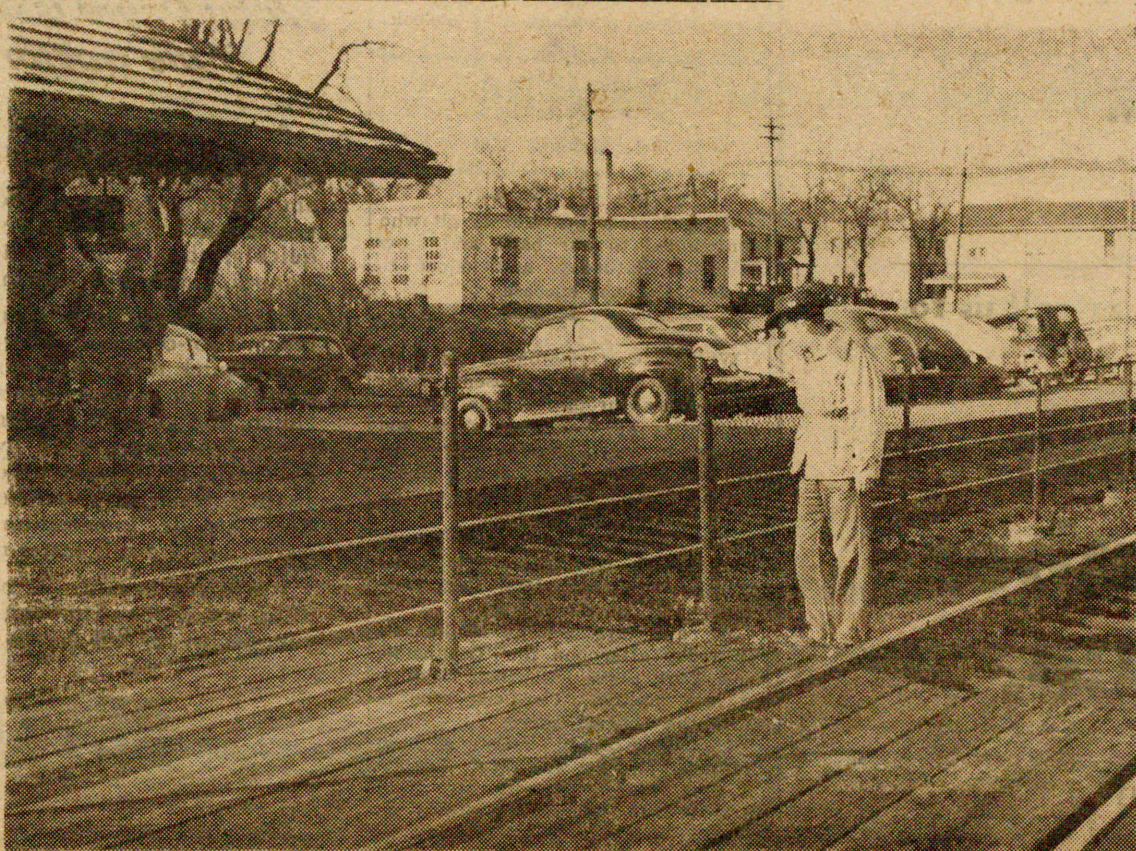

The three children ran from the scene crying frantically to the local store where one of the father's was. They were all taken to their family physicians for check ups, and were found to be unharmed, although nervous from their terrifying experience. Their families are most grateful that they were not harmed or killed.

It is said the children had only ridden on the train a few times before.

Easier Handling

one more reason why John Deere is first choice of the tractor-wise!

A true test of the ease of handling of any tractor is at cultivating time. Slide into the seat of a John Deere "A," "B," or "G" Tractor and make a round or two. Right off you'll notice real driving ease. You'll be able to dodge quickly; there's no fighting the wheel—just smooth, responsive steering all the way.

What's more, controls are within convenient reach. Foot-operated differential brakes permit short, quick turns. At your finger-tips are the throttle and radiator shutter levers, the hand clutch, the gear shift lever, and the hydraulic Power-Trol lever. With hydraulic Powr-Trol, operation of integral or drawn equipment is simpler, faster than ever before. Equipped with Roll-O-Matic "knee-action" front wheels, your tractor will be still easier to drive.

It will pay to consider not only ease of handling but all the advantages a John Deere offers you. See us for full details.

WASHINGTON WEEK

From Congressman N. M. Mason

Congress Is Responsible. Not one dollar can get into the Federal Treasury nor can one dollar get out of the Federal Treasury without an Act of Congress. The Constitution of the United States places the full responsibility for control over the Federal purse strings upon Congress. Congress can neither shirk nor shift that responsibility.

During the past six years Congress has authorized aid to foreign governments, and their peoples, in the amount of $40 billion. The American taxpayers want this Congressional liberality with their tax money stopped. Is it not time to close "Uncle Sam's International Gift Shop?"

Now comes President Truman and asks Congress to appropriate $200,000,000 to buy 75,000,000 bushels of wheat for India. This is advertised as a humanitarian move to stave off starvation and suffering in India. It is nothing of the kind. The Indian Government will not distribute the wheat as charity, but will instead sell the wheat to its people. President Truman says:

"We will expect the Government of India to deposit in a special fund currency equivalent to the proceeds from the sale in India of the grain we supply on a grant basis. This fund will be used for the development and improvement of the Indian economy."

Should Congress continue to tax the American people to pay for this international largess, or should Congress close up Uncle Sam's International Gift Shop?

Interesting Figures for American Taxpayers. The Marshall Plan countries of Europe have a total population of 187,298,000 people, a total national debt of $115.8 billion, and an average per capita debt of $618.27. The United States has a population of 150,000,000 people, a total national debt of $256.8 billion, more than twice as great as the total national debt of all the Marshall Plan countries—and an average per capita debt of $1,676.07.

The total national debt of all European nations is less than half the total national debt of the United States and their per capita debt figures out only a little more than one-third of our per capita debt. Why should our State Department insist upon heaping additional taxes on the backs of American taxpayers in order to lighten the tax load upon European taxpayers?

Defense Spending. We propose to spend approximately $50 billion next year for National Defense. This is more than four times as much as all other Atlantic Pact countries put together propose to spend. England proposes to spend $6.3 billion; France $2.4 billion; Canada $1.4 billion; all other Atlantic Pact countries, $1.6 billion, making a total of $11.7 billion.

In view of the fact that our national debt is more than twice the national debt of all other Atlantic Pact countries put together, why should we spend on National Defense more than four times as much as all other Atlantic Pact countries?

For Farmers and Taxpayers. On February 7, 1951, the Chicago Quartermaster Depot purchased for the Armed Services 5,467,000 pounds of oleomargarine at a cost of $1,375,797.48. On February 17, 1951, the Steamship "Saturnia" sailed from the port of New York loaded with 1,300,000 pounds of creamery butter that was purchased from the Commodity Credit Corporation by the Italian Government for 17 cents per pound. We paid 70 cents per pound for the butter to hold up the price. Now we re-sell it at a loss, to the Italian Government, and buy oleo for our soldier boys to eat. Does this make sense?

Heat Lamps Are Valuable For Pig Brooders

Easily installed heat lamps can be a valuable pig-saver if you use them with caution.

Frank Andrew, extension rural electrical specialist at the Illinois College of Agriculture, says many farmers are finding that heat lamps can help reduce baby pig losses by supplying additional heat during the first week or two of their lives.

Heat lamps are easy to install in farrowing quarters because of their construction, Andrew points out. They are made with the element and reflector built into the bulb, something like sealed-beam auto headlights.

Several types of heat lamps are available on the market. Some have clear or frosted glass, while others have ruby or red glass bulbs. It is important that the lamps you buy have a pyrex type glass for safer handling and use.

Andrew lists the following points as particularly important when you install heat lamps for baby pigs.

1. The area over which the heat lamps are installed must be protected from the sow. You can do this by nailing boards, a gate or a panel across one corner of the farrowing pen.

2. The heavy cord supporting the lamp should be properly anchored by a wood clip or bracket. Do not use a nail, as it may let the lamp slip or fall. It is best to

TODAY'S meditation

THURSDAY, MARCH 8
"... forgive us our sins: ... deliver us from evil." (Luke 11:4)
Read Matthew 18:21-35.

In the early days of Christianity in North Africa, a nobleman came to John the Almsgiver, Bishop of Alexandria, and complained bitterly about a hurt done to him. He said he would never forgive the one who had done it. The bishop entered a little chapel where he was accustomed to pray and knelt at the altar. The nobleman followed and knelt behind him. The bishop began to pray the Lord's prayer. The nobleman repeated the words. The bishop stopped abruptly after praying, "Give us this day our daily bread." The nobleman, caught off guard, went on and said, "And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us."

The powerful, self-accusing significance of the words he had just uttered there in the chapel sank deeply into his soul. He sprang to his knees and went out to seek and forgive the offender.

By entering the house of prayer and praying in the Spirit of our Master and Lord, we gain soul strength sufficient to forgive those who trespass against us.

PRAYER
O God, we know Thy Spirit cannot abide in an unforgiving heart. Forbid that we should shut out Thy presence from our souls by entertaining an unforgiving spirit. We ask in the name of Him who forgave, even when upon the cross. Amen.

Thought For The Day
God has given me a house of prayer and a heart to pray.
Thomas A. Stafford (Illinois)

use a small rope to support the lamp.

3. Use a porcelain socket on the end of the cord so that the extra heat around the base of the lamp will not cause any damage.

4. Provide a shield to protect the lamp from splattering water and hard knocks.

5. Adjust the height of the lamp so that it is at least 18 to 24 inches above the litter. The higher the lamp, of course, the less heat it will provide for the pigs.

6. Check with your insurance company to see whether or not your hog houses are covered for this type of risk.

Main hazards of heat lamps are faulty wiring and poor or faulty installation which might cause them to drop onto the litter or break. You can avoid these difficulties if you are careful with the original installation.

National 4-H Club Week March 3-11

Some 55,000 Illinois 4-H Club members are scheduled to organize their efforts to increase their ranks during National 4-H Club Week March 3 through 11.

That is the week when eligible boys and girls in each county are given a special invitation to enroll in club work and take an active part in club projects and activities. The state goal is 60,000 members in 1951.

4-H Club members "learn by doing." Any boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 21 years may become a member who agrees to that formula for learning some farming, homemaking or community activity.

Some of the projects that boys can do in the agricultural clubs include beef or dairy cattle, swine, sheep, poultry, crops; tractor maintenance, farm concrete or metal roofing, farm electricity, forestry, gardening and soil conservation.

Projects for girls in the home economics clubs include clothing, baking, canning, frozen foods, dairy products, food preparation and home improvement. Other activities in which boy and girl club members jointly take part include health, achievement, citizenship, leadership, records, farm safety and recreation and rural arts.

Late Lambs Can Pay Off on Good Pastures

If you don't have the facilities to handle an early lamb crop, you can still make money with late lambs if you have some good, improved pasture to help in the program.

Harry G. Russell, extension livestock specialist at the Illinois College of Agriculture, says that a late spring lamb crop paid off in 1950 for Kenneth Dyeus of Mt. Vernon Jefferson county.

Dyeus bred his ewes to lamb in late April and early in May last year, because he knew that he would not have barn room for early lambing. He had plenty of good pasture as a result of his pasture improvement program.

Dyeus had 65 ewes, 23 of which were 1949 lambs. Most of the ewe lambs were not bred, but he got a crop of 63 lambs, or about 150 percent, from the older ewes. The lambs were born on pasture and ran with the ewes until August, when all of them were weaned.

He bought an additional 20 head from a neighbor and sold 83 head on December 10 at $31.50 a hundredweight.

Nobody could find any fault with the new leather and foam-rubber chairs in the House's recently renovated chamber. But one Congressman took the long view. As he settled into his seat, North Dakota's Usher L. Burdick (R.) sighed: "They're nice. But they'll be just as hard to hold as the old ones." —Pathfinder.

THE PILLOW FIGHTS

(Illustration: Boys with pillows)
Of things I loved in childhood days,
I miss the most of all
Those good old-fashioned pillow fights

I fought when I was small...
My brother Johnny loved them too
And he could swing a slip
Of feathers like a stevedore
Who loads a waiting ship...
We hooted, yelled, and leaped and laughed

And shook our boyhood bed
Till one of us fell out and put
A bump upon his head!
And even then the pause was short
Our fun must be pursued;
So, hardly had the tears been dried
When battle was renewed!

We whacked each other till we were
Delirious with joy...
Those were the nights to go to bed
When I was but a boy!
It would be fun to go back there
If only for a night

To whack my brother once again
In that old pillow fight;
To see our Mom when she was young
Come walking through the door
And make us clean the feathers out
That lay about the floor...

Of things I loved in childhood days
I miss the most of all
Those good, old-fashioned pillow fights
I fought when I was small!

WANT ADS ALWAYS PAY

First Aid for Bark Wounds

GOOD trees are an asset to any residential or farm property. They should, of course, be protected from abuse. Occasionally, however, they may be injured by accident. Then it is important for the owner to give first aid.

Small wounds can be dressed by smoothing off the injured bark area as they are discovered. Tree wounds heal at the sides and not at the top or bottom, so the bark should be traced to a pointed oval outline. The edges then will be all side edges and will heal rapidly.

Orange shellac may next be applied to protect the bark edges against drying.

Paint should not be used, because most paint materials are injurious to the living bark. The shellac will prevent drying, but not decay. A tree wound dressing should be used for that purpose. In case of large wounds it is advisable to call in a tree expert.

WELCOME FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS !

Our 1951 Safety and Business Message The Great Prosperous Neighboring Communities of Tinley Park, Orland Park, Worth, Oak Forest, Palos Heights, etc. That We Have Served for Many Years With The "Never Say Die Spirit" We are Proud Of

Please drive, work and play safely . . . Save a Life . . . and, remember these are school days! Our young and future America is on parade. An accident could mean serious trouble and even death to you, or me, or some of our very dear loved ones. Everything in 1951 points to a record breaking money and business year, so say all the nation's great prognosticators of big business. There is absolutely no better merchandise, variety of stock, or service to be had anywhere at any price, second to none in the middlewest, than can be had in this great section of ours at a price range that has always been conducive for the betterment of all concerned at all times.

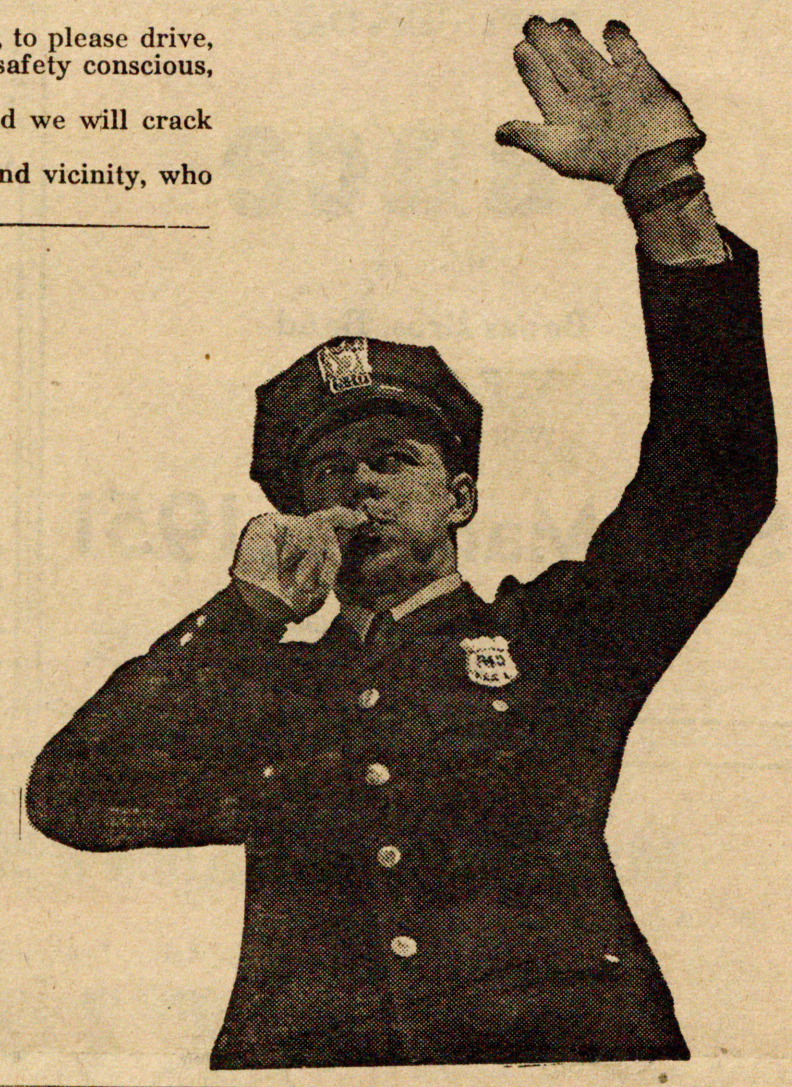

Remember, Oak Lawn, Evergreen Park, Palos Park, Worth, Oak Forest, Tinley Park, Orland Park and all the great prosperous section we serve, have much in common. We are neighbors! Let's be good neighbors and treat each other like good neighbors.

Whenever your desires and needs cannot be met in your respective communities, pay Evergreen Park and Oak Lawn a visit on your shopping and service tours. You could not do better. And, you are always welcome, as well as being a community booster.

Again, may we remind you, on behalf of the National Safety Council, and the grand people of this great territory as a whole, to please drive, work and play safely . . . Save a life . . . and, remember, the life you save may be your own life! And, while we are being safety conscious, let us join together to improve and make this great aggressive community a safer and better place to live.

All we good Americans, today, more than ever, must have faith and pull together. Don't sell America short. We must and we will crack the iron curtain. Peace and justice will be ours with God's help.

Sponsored by the following progressive and public spirited business and civic leaders of Oak Lawn and Evergreen Park and vicinity, who pledge ourselves to safety, community unity and progress:
